Why would I refer a family member or a person for whom I care to speech therapy? What happens in therapy?

The Speech Therapy team at the Blanche Kahn Medical Center provides evaluations and treatment of a variety of speech and language disorders in adults with intellectual & developmental disabilities, stemming from neurological, genetic, or developmental disorders. Through their compassionate care and extraordinary clinical technique, the Speech Language Pathologists at BKMC provide tailored treatments to address expressive language disorders, receptive language disorders, cognitive impairments, motor-speech disorders, and pragmatic skills deficits, among others. Their long term goal is to improve their clients' quality of lives by strengthening their skills for improved communication and self-care outside the therapy room.
